DIAMONDS NOW PROVE COSTLY TO RUSSIANS

Bargains Are No Longer Offered
Foreigners and Country
Drained of Stones

WARSAW, Sept. 11.—Diamonds are in such demand among foreigners visiting Russia in search of bargains that the nearby bordering cities are being drained of stones for the Russian market, according to dealers here. Merchants have been active for months in Bucharest, Vienna, Riga, Reva, Warsaw and even Berlin, and other cities, buying up the cheap, cut stones. By ingenious ways these diamonds—if some of them can be called diamonds—are sent to Moscow and there put on the market.

Russian diamonds have been extensively advertised in Europe and the United States. Owing to misfortune many wealthy families, when reverses came, sold their jewels at prices far less than they were worth. But time has brought about a change in conditions. There were many diamond bargains in Russia in the early days of the revolution, and the hard times which followed. This quite naturally attracted the attention of foreigners, and for years every visitor to Russia went with the hope of finding a nice "pickup" or two for himself or his wife, or for speculation. Merchants, too, came in droves. As a consequence most of the better diamonds, rubies and other precious stones gradually passed into foreign hands and out of the country.

Merchants contend that there are probably more yellow and speckled diamonds in Moscow today than in any other city in Europe. And many of these through speculators, came from the outside especially for the "trade." Eventually, through barter-hunting foreigners, these stones will be taken out of the country again at $150 or $200 a carat when on the open market they would not bring half that price.

OLD METHODS PRACTICED BY MOTHER GONE

Bakery Exposition in Chicago
Says Old Style of Bread
Baking Obsolete

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Scientists will attempt to demonstrate that mother's methods in baking bread are out of date when the bakery exposition and conventions of national baker associations are held here Sept. 11 to 16.

How modern scientific control has taken all chance and possibility of mishap out of what was once mother's "intuition" in getting a good bake of family bread will be shown at the exposition to be held on the municipal pier.

Huge steel-baked bread ovens, each having the strength and working force of 200,000 women, traveling ovens and other modern machinery will demonstrate the exactitude in the modern bake shop.

Progress of the baking industry within the last fifteen years will be shown in machinery valued at more than $1,000,000 which will be in operation, turning out bread, pies and cakes according to present-day quantity production methods.

More than 6,000 bakers are expected to attend the exposition and the conventions of the various national baking organizations meeting at the same time.

Among the prominent speakers will be H. C. Spillman, who will talk on "The Man Behind the Loaf," H. A. Wheeler, vice president of the Union Trust company, Chicago; L. K. Russell, editor of "Baking Technology," and Dr. W. W. Skinner, assistant chief of the United States bureau of chemistry.

YANGTZE RIVER IS TO BE IMPROVED

SHANGHAI, Sept. 11.—The Yangtze river commission, which is directing a project for the improvement of the great waterway, has appointed George G. Strobe chief survey engineer in connection with the project. Mr. Strobe was in the Philippine government service for twelve years, as hydraulic engineer, designing irrigation, river and harbor works. Before he went to the Philippines he was graduated from Chicago university in 1902 and received a degree from the University of Michigan in 1904; subsequently teaching civil engineering at the University of Michigan for a period of years.

COMMERCIAL CONGRESS WILL VISIT MEXICO

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The fifteenth annual convention of the southern commercial congress will be held here Nov. 20 to 22, the Chicago Association of Commerce and Illinois Manufacturers' Association acting as hosts.

Immediately following the Chicago convention the congress will hold a conference on Mexican trade relations in Texas City, Tex., and will conduct from there a trade commission to Mexico City as guests of the Mexican government.

The southern commercial congress was organized in 1887 and continued in active work until 1860. The annual convention scheduled to be held at Atlanta in 1861 was postponed because of the civil war.

For many years it failed to function, but after the reconstruction of the south had been completed it was revived and in 1908 business leaders of the south in convention in Washington recognized the organization as an institution and established its permanent headquarters in the capital city.
